All meetings, programs and events listed in this issue are subject to change or cancellation depending on health and safety considerations.

Littleton Voters Select Mayor, New Council Members, and Support Investment in the Community

Voters overwhelmingly gave their support to solving the revenue crisis in the Capital Projects Fund (CPF) by approving Issue 3A with 58.9 percent voting "yes."

"I can't thank the council, staff, and voters enough for their work on the funding fix," said City Manager Mark Relph. "It is never easy to ask for a tax increase but I credit voters for understanding the urgency of the need. Voters haven't approved a tax increase in 50 years and the city has budgeted wisely over time. But voters understood without a new source of revenue, the CPF would run out of money in 2025. The majority of voters agreed on how important it is to take care of our physical assets," Relph added.

The Arapahoe, Douglas and Jefferson County Clerk and Recorders provided unofficial results for the 2021 Littleton municipal election (as of November 15). The figures are not final until after the Board of Canvass certifies the results.

For the first time in Littleton's history, registered voters determined who will serve as mayor. In the past, the mayor and mayor pro tem were selected by the council from among the seated members. In November 2020, voters approved a ballot question giving citizens the opportunity to make that decision.

A reception was held November 16 to welcome the new council members and recognize those who served. The new council members were sworn in by Presiding Judge Ethan Feldman who administered the oath of office. The new council then elected Gretchen Rydin as the mayor pro tem to serve for the next two years.

City Partners on Proactive Data-Driven Approach to Homelessness

The City of Littleton is engaged in several initiatives to prevent homelessness and serve community members who experience it. Recognizing the need for regional collaboration, in 2018 the Tri-Cities Homelessness Policy group was created in partnership with Englewood and Sheridan. While

Unified Land Use Code Next Steps

The Littleton City Council voted unanimously to adopt the Unified Land Use Code (ULUC) at its meeting October 19. The ULUC went into effect October 28 and city staff are working to implement the new ULUC and defining new processes and procedures. Just like the city code, the ULUC is an online, easy-to-use, interactive document available on the city's website. A Planner on Call is available to answer any questions by calling 303-795-3748 or emailing drt@ littletongov.org.

The ULUC is the culmination of four years of community input and staff analysis to rewrite Littleton's land use codes which had not be holistically modernized since 1976. Envision Littleton started with the creation of a Unifying Vision which was adopted in December, 2018. The next step was a commitment to listen, learn, and create a plan for the next 20 years. The Comprehensive Plan, adopted in 2019, modernizes the city's regulatory framework and transitioning to a ULUC as its top priority.

"I am incredibly proud of the city council and the staff for their commitment to achieving this major accomplishment," said City Manager Mark Relph. "A new land use code that speaks to what is possible versus what isn't allowed will help citizens and the business community better understand how to move the city forward while fostering Littleton's community character, unique identity, and quality of life" Relph added.

Rio Grande Street Closed Soon for Construction

The City of Littleton began a project to remove and replace the Rio Grande Street Bridge at Slaughterhouse Gulch. The bridge, located along Rio Grande Street north of Berry Avenue and south of Crestline Avenue, has been there since the early 1930s. The project will be partially funded through a Colorado Department of Transportation Off-system Bridge Program Grant.

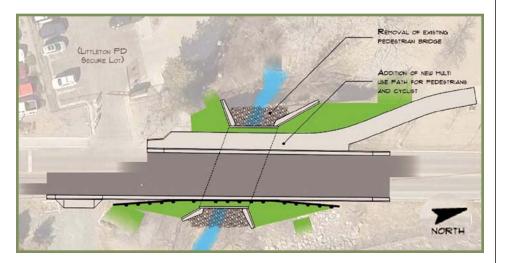

American Civil Constructors, a Littleton contractor, has been chosen to complete the work. Construction began mid-November and will last approximately six months. During the work, Rio Grande Street will be closed at the bridge. Both vehicular and pedestrian detours will be posted.

A dual cell 10' x 12' box culvert will replace the existing concrete bridge and the existing road just north and south of the bridge will be widened to match the cross section. The city is currently scoping a subsequent project to place a multi-use trail in one of the cells of the box culvert, providing a multi-modal connection from the Littleton Community Trail to the Mary Carter Greenway adjacent to the Platte River.

For questions about this project, call 303-795-3919 or 303-795-3871, or email pwpg@littletongov.org or pwpmg@littletongov.org.

Sales and Use Tax Rate Increase Notice to Businesses

Littleton voters approved a .75% sales and use tax rate increase on November 2 to fund capital improvement projects and ensure long-term financial stability. Effective January 1, businesses should begin collecting the new city sales tax rate of 3.75%. The City of Littleton sales tax must be collected on all sales of tangible personal property at retail in the city, including items delivered into the city. Shipping and delivery charges are also taxable.

The City of Littleton collects its own sales tax, and a return must be filed even if there is no tax due.

Returns are due by the 20th of the following month. If the 20th falls on a weekend or holiday, the return is due the next business day. Returns must be postmarked on or before the due date to be considered timely. For questions regarding the new tax rate visit Littletongov.org or call 303-795-3768.

NOTE: County use tax applies to automobiles and new construction materials.

Littleton City Council Approves 2022 Budget

The Littleton City Council adopted the 2022 Budget at its regular meeting October 19. The City of Littleton Leadership Team began working on the 2022 Budget in early summer. Departmental discussions were held in July with an all-day budget workshop with city council and staff September 11. The 2022 Proposed Budget proved to be more challenging than usual. The pandemic required the city to react quickly and strategically to address loss of revenues in 2020 and early 2021 while continuing to serve the community and attract and retain well-qualified employees.

The city is experiencing a restoration of revenues in mid-2021. Through October of this year, General Fund revenues were higher by 10.6 percent and expenditures were lower by 2.2 percent from the prior year. The staff and council are looking strategically to add back some services that were reduced during the 2021 budget. The council considered 20 policy questions including a digital media technician and software licensing for the Littleton Police Department to facilitate a body-worn camera program to be in place by July 2023 as required by state law.

Funding for four open space projects was considered: replacement of the Harlow Park playground and equipment, replacement of both pavilions at Sterne Park, improvements to TrailMark Park, and a site plan for Jackass Hill Park improvements. A grounds and land-scaping assessment and maintenance master plan is recommended by staff as well as four new utility technicians funded from the sewer and stormwater utility fund and capital projects funds, and an increase in funding for Neighborhood Partnership Grants.

Funding for the Littleton Immigrant Resource Center will sunset at the end of 2022. This program was initially funded by grants more than a decade ago and grants are no longer available to support it.

Denver Water Rates Increase for Littleton Residents

On October 27, the Denver Board of Water Commissioners adopted new water rates that will be effective January 1, 2022, to help pay for critical upgrades and projects to keep its system operating efficiently. How that rate increase will affect individual customer bills will vary depending on where the customer lives in Denver Water's service area and how much water they use.

For typical single-family residential customers who use 104,000 gallons of water in 2022 as they did in 2021, the new rates will increase their monthly bill by a range of about 47 cents to $1.34 depending on where they live.

"Denver Water's mission is to ensure that we deliver safe, clean water to the people who rely on us every day," said CEO/Manager Jim Lochhead. "Over the next 10 years, we are forecasting an estimated investment of $2.6 billion into our system to increase its resiliency, reliability and sustainability in the face of changes we are anticipating. From more frequent droughts and wildfires to additional regulations we expect we will be asked to meet — we will be prepared." For more information about the increase or to view a list of frequently asked questions visit denverwater.org.

New Electric Vehicle Chargers at Geneva Lodge

The City of Littleton installed two new Electric Vehicle (EV) charging stations, located at 2305 West Berry Avenue in front of Geneva Lodge. The stations are free and are part of the ChargePoint Network. These stations offer four separate J1772, 6.6 kilowatt plugs. The City of Littleton used funding from a grant by Charge Ahead Colorado through the Regional Air Quality Council.

City Partners on Homelessness

homelessness is evident throughout the state, the Tri-Cities group share physical borders and often collaborate on regional issues. The group achieved several milestones over the last three years in studying and developing strategies to reduce homelessness and its impact on the region including:

- Completed a Political, Economic, Social, Technological, Environmental, and Legal (PESTEL) analysis of regional services for unhoused people.
- Completed two assessments with the University of Denver Center for Housing and Homelessness to better understand family and chronic homelessness in the Tri-Cities.
- Partnered with the Metro Denver Homeless Initiative who coordinates services with providers from throughout the region.
- Created an Action Plan with the Florence Aliese Advancement Network.

Findings that emerged from the reports shed light on the facts about homelessness in the south metro area:

- The top causes of homelessness for families are unable to pay rent, change in employment status, and loss of a job.
- The primary barriers to permanent housing are the increased cost of housing, low or no credit score, and unable to pay rent.
- Three out of four homeless youth were likely kicked out, have a family that can't house them, or don't have a responsible guardian.
- In the last two years, the majority of respondents slept on the streets at least once.

Each of the three cities adopted the Tri City Homeless Action Plan this fall following several joint study sessions and presentations. The next steps in implementing it are:

> Acknowledge the unique needs of families and individuals experiencing homelessness.

Dedicate a full time coordinator to implement the plan.

Continue to partner with Arapahoe County and service providers.

Increase data collection and tracking practices.

Enhance local and regional coordination.

Leverage partnerships to proactively address the health and behavioral health of single adults experiencing unsheltered homelessness.

Study housing opportunities to increase successful exits from homelessness.

Additional homelessness resources in the area include:

- ArapaSOURCE is a web application from Arapahoe County to quickly locate area resources.
- Change the Trend, a collection of local organizations collaborating to end the cycles of poverty, addiction, and homelessness.
- The Littleton Police Department and All-Health Network established a police Co-Responder Program to reduce crime rates and provide mental health and social services.
- Bemis Public Library maintains a comprehensive list of area resources to assist those experiencing homelessness.

The Tri Cities Group is comprised of elected officials and city leadership, non-profit and state partners, public safety experts, and others who understand a 'one size fits all' approach isn't feasible. Their goals are to understand the root causes of homelessness, offer flexible solutions, and utilize proven strategies to address this issue.

Housing Task Force Seeks Members

Littleton's Housing Task Force is seeking additional members. Members partner with a multi-disciplinary group of fellow citizens to help city staff and council better understand Littleton's housing needs and goals. The task force is especially interested in participation from local employers, citizens connected to large community organizations, and anyone with past experience related to housing issues in either the private or public sector.

Commitment involves a monthly one-hour task force virtual meeting, as well as limited additional time and effort for ad hoc meetings, council presentations, and other similar activities. If interested, email cmoko@littletongov.org.

Opioid Settlement

On October 26, the Littleton City Council voted unanimously to approve a memorandum of understanding that will allow the city to receive about $600,000 from a $400 million Colorado settlement in the $26 billion multi-state settlement with drug companies for their role in deaths from opioid overdoses.

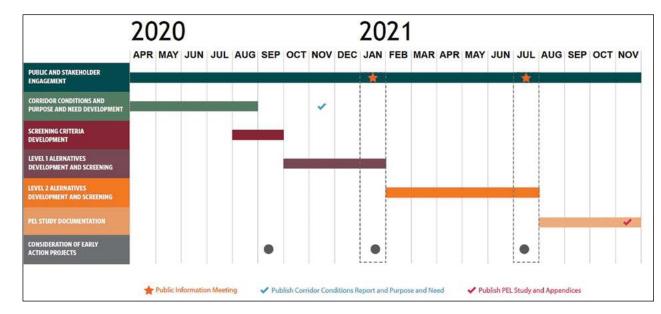

Colorado Attorney General Phil Weiser announced a plan in August for how to distribute the money the state received from drug distributors AmerisourceBergen, Cardinal Health, McKesson, and manufacturer Johnson and Johnson as well as $100 million from a previous settlement with other large manufacturers including Purdue Pharma. Weiser praised the council's decision to join the settlement.

The funds will be distributed over 18 years and allocated by council to aid with mental health programs and drug abuse prevention in Littleton.

Next Steps for Planning for the Future of Santa Fe Drive Between C-470 and I-25

The City of Littleton, the Colorado Department of Transportation (CDOT), and several other municipalities continue to work the Santa Fe Drive Action Plan. The group completed a Planning and Environmental Linkages (PEL) Study along Santa Fe Drive between C-470 and the junction of Alameda Drive and I-25. This examined options to address overall congestion on Santa Fe Drive that will serve existing and future needs, and make recommendations to improve safety, traffic operations, travel time, and multi-modal person-trip capacity.

The Santa Fe Drive Action Plan is expected to take approximately 18 months and will result in a final report identifying short-term and long-term recommendations. For more information about the project or to join the distribution list, visit the project website www.codot.gov/projects.

City Receives More Than $1.3 Million in Open Space Funds

Arapahoe County awarded over $21 million in open space funds at the annual Shareback and Grant Awards on September 17. The City of Littleton received just over $1.3 million. Funds are allocated according to population and contribute to the quality of life and overall health of Littleton residents via trail, playground, and park improvements.

In addition to Shareback funds, the board awarded grants ranging from $75,000 to $500,00 in support of 16 projects to 12 cities, towns and recreation districts. The City of Littleton received $100,000 for a citywide trail connectivity analysis which will identify gaps, accessibility uses, and community priorities for trail improvements. The city also received $75,000 for a citywide assessment of water needs for parks and open space.

Steven F. Alexander Operations Center Littleton

Operations Center Named for 46-Year City Employee

Littleton City Manager Mark Relph named a new technology-focused Public Works Operations Center in honor of Streets Supervisor Steve Alexander, who retired from the City of Littleton after nearly 46 years. Over the course of that time, Steve paved and repaired many miles of streets and sidewalks; and stayed up countless nights making sure Littleton's streets were safe and plowed of snow and ice.

When Alexander started with the city on April 12, 1976, Littleton's population was 26,500 - today it's 45,260. Total snowfall during that time was 3,105 inches, or if stacked all at once, the snow would cover the head of the Statue of Liberty leaving only the arm and torch exposed. Alexander's crews have paved over 301 lane miles of streets, not to mention crack sealing over 1,500 miles. That is like paving a single lane of asphalt from Littleton to Grand Junction and then down to Delta! Or crack sealing from Littleton to Atlanta, Georgia!

Alexander's greatest legacy is caring for the people he worked with. He treated his employees like family and made sure every employee went home safe to their family.

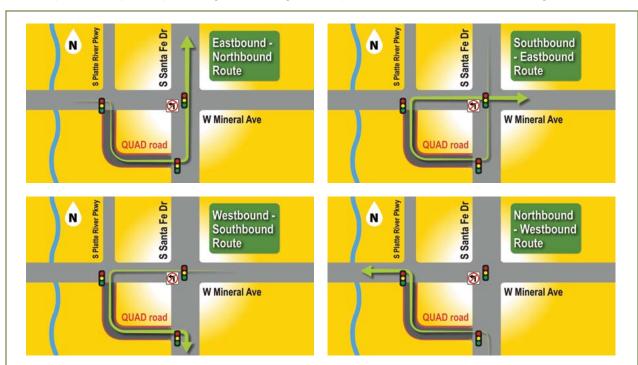

Improving the Santa Fe Drive and Mineral Avenue Intersection

It's no secret – traveling through the Santa Fe Drive and Mineral Avenue intersection can be a headache. It is one of the most congested intersections in the city with vehicles stacking for over a mile and delays reaching 15 to 20 minutes of extra travel time. This results in long delays and safety concerns, such as rear-end crashes that are associated with significant congestion. This intersection carries up to 60,000 vehicles per day along Santa Fe Drive and 30,000 vehicles per day along Mineral Avenue.

The City of Littleton is planning the Santa Fe Drive and Mineral Avenue Operational Improvements Project to reduce congestion and improve safety at this intersection, greatly reducing congestion and improving safety for relatively low costs and with minimal land impacts. After conducting previous studies in 2018, it was determined that the best solution would be a quadrant roadway (quad road).

The quad road concept works by shifting left-turns away from the main intersection to a new connector road. Eliminating left turns at the main intersection allows more time for vehicles to move through the intersection. It also allows additional through lanes to be added at the intersection without widening the road.

The city will develop conceptual designs, final design of the quad road, and modifications to the segments of Mineral Avenue and Santa Fe Drive impacted by the removal of the left turn movements. The team will work closely with the Colorado Department of Transportation (CDOT) and other stakeholders, while coordinating with existing projects in the area, including the Mineral Mobility Improvements Project, Douglas County's South US 85 design, the CDOT Santa Fe Action Plan, and private development plans. The conceptual and final design processes are expected to take 12 to 18 months with construction beginning in 2023.

Learn more about the project and sign-up for the distribution list to stay involved throughout the process. Visit littletongov.org/santafe-mineral.

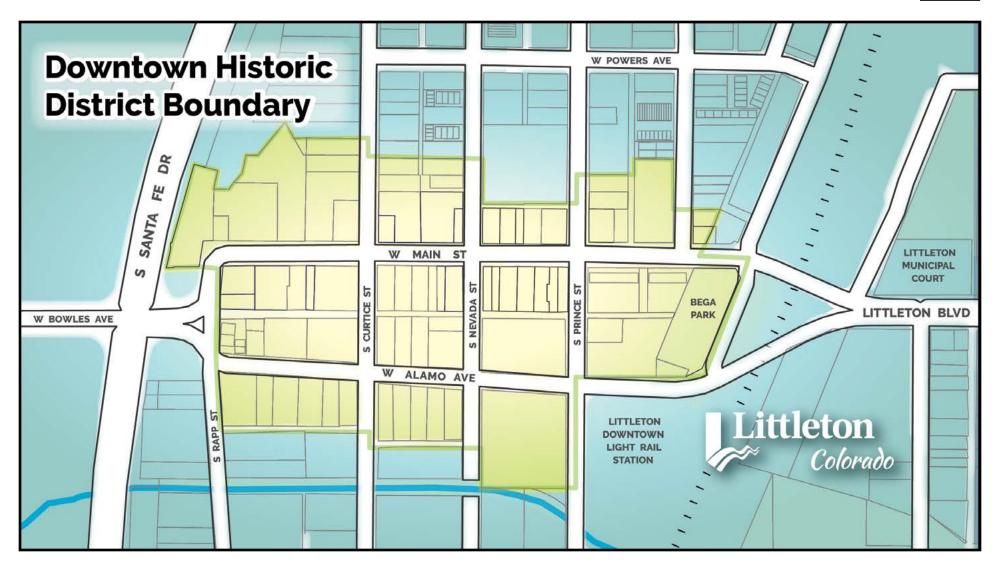

Littleton City Council Approves New Downtown Historic District

The Littleton City Council voted 6-1 to create a Downtown Historic District for properties on Main Street and Alamo Avenue at its special meeting October 26. The new all-inclusive district includes 71 properties and replaces the opt-in Main Street Historic District adopted in 2005. Moving forward, structures within the district will be preserved under the city's historic preservation program, ensuring that downtown's historic character will be preserved. A variety of funding sources and tax credit programs at the state and federal levels are available to assist property owners with preservation projects.

2021 Election Year to Include Honorary Dog Mayor

Calling all dogs interested in paw-litics. Historic Littleton, Inc. (HLI), a non-profit membership organization dedicated to preserving the historic and architectural heritage of the greater Littleton area, will hold Littleton's first honorary dog mayor election this year.

Avoid Frozen Pipes

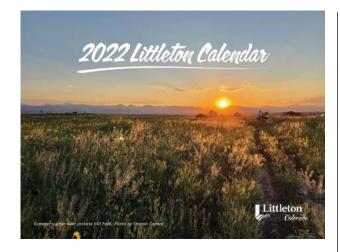

Denver Water suggests taking steps to avoid costly water damage during cold spells. It is important to know where the water shut-off valve is located. In most single-family homes, the valve is in the basement or the crawl space, on a wall facing the street. Be sure to turn off outdoor faucets and disconnect hoses. When temperatures dip below freezing, insulate water pipes that may be vulnerable to the cold, such as those close to exterior walls, near windows and in unheated basements. Find more tips at denverwater.org/Cold.

Aspen Grove Rezone Approved

At its November 9 meeting, the Littleton City Council approved a rezoning application from the Gerrity Group to redevelop the Aspen Grove Shopping Center. The rezoning will allow the applicant to construct up to 2,000 residential units and a minimum of 125,000 square-feet of retail. While formal plans have not been submitted, the applicant intends to redevelop the property to better match today's retail environment and provide improved connectivity to the RTD light rail station and South Platte Park.

The Secret Life of Clothes Exhibit Opens

The newest exhibit at the Littleton Museum opened in November. The Secret Life of Clothes tells the everyday story of the lifecycle of clothes, focused on 1880-1910, and today.

With over eight billion people on earth, one of the common threads that humans share is wearing clothes as a basic necessity for protection, as well as a means of self-expression. Clothing is also connected to fashion and how and where the person is wearing their clothing. Clothing began as a basic necessity to individuals who had a very intimate connection to the laborious process of its creation, care and storage. In more modern days, it has evolved into a highly accessible, but easily detached from and disposed of, means of societal expression.

The Secret Life of Clothes tells the everyday story of the lifecycle of clothes – the overlooked journey of clothing as a progression from fiber to finished garment, sale to storage, and finally to mending, disposal or reuse. Visitors will experience a variety of fashions, as well as the tools, materials, and context of how those clothes were made, worn, cared for, mended, and stored.

The exhibit also explores the future of clothing, considering the economic, cultural, and environmental impacts of the massive growth of the fast-fashion clothing industry and how, in response, new innovations are leading the way towards a more sustainable clothing lifecycle for future generations.

It was a fun pARTy at the Littleton Museum

In September the Littleton Museum hosted the first pARTy. The ticketed event complemented the museum's new exhibit, Print Renaissance: Mid-Century Masters of American Printmaking. This exhibit is on loan from the CU Boulder Art Museum and features 19 prints and lithographs from mid-twentieth century artists including Andy Warhol, Robert Rauschenberg, and Red Grooms.

The guests at the pARTy enjoyed food, beverages and had an opportunity to learn about lithography, woodcut printing, and to create their own monoprint of leaves. Watch for more pARTy events in 2022.
