Mineral Avenue Concrete Replacement and New Pedestrian Crossing

At the end of spring or early summer, the Littleton Public Works Department will start a concrete panel replacement project along Mineral Avenue from the Platte River to Platte Canyon Road. The concrete pavement of Mineral Avenue along this corridor was installed in the late 1980's and some panels are experiencing failures along the joints. This project will remove and replace the critically damaged panels to ensure a smooth ride for vehicles and further extend the life of the pavement. The existing pedestrian crossing and Rectangular Rapid Flashing Beacons (RRFBs) at the intersection of Polo Ridge Drive will be relocated to the west. This will utilize the existing median to provide a two-stage crossing of Mineral Avenue and increase the visibility of crossing pedestrians to vehicles. The city estimates this project will take approximately three months to complete. During construction, Mineral Avenue will be reduced to one lane and left turning movements from side streets will be restricted. Nearby residents and businesses will receive additional notifications as the project gets closer. For updates visit littletongov.org/pw-projects.

City Council Transitions To Hybrid Meetings

On March 2, the Littleton City Council held its first hybrid meeting. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the council has been holding regular meetings and study sessions virtually using the Zoom platform since March 2020. This allowed council members, staff, and citizens to be able to participate in meetings while safely social distancing. The hybrid meeting setup combines the technology in the newly renovated council chamber with the Zoom platform, and allows council members and staff to either participate remotely or from the council chamber. Citizens are still asked to participate virtually by calling 669-900-6833 and entering the webinar ID located on the meeting agenda.

Exploring Solutions for Littleton's Serious Revenue Problem

Longtime observers of Littleton politics and policy won't be surprised to know the city is facing a serious revenue problem. Due to a variety of factors, funding is inadequate to deal with many challenges ranging from public safety to road maintenance and building improvements. Capital projects have been deferred and the general fund over time is going to have less and less to manage the programs and services citizens have come to depend upon. But how many citizens are aware of these funding problems – and more importantly, how many appreciate how these problems will soon further affect the quality of life in Littleton?

While the council and staff have discussed the city's revenue problems for years, the council supported taking steps to find solutions after City Manager Mark Relph explained the diminishing fund balance in the Capital Projects Fund (CPF) at the February 9 study session. "We have a demand of $12.5 million annually and we have not been doing anything about it. We've created a deficit in capital projects. Fleet is the example where we know we have to spend on the magnitude of $3 million annually and because of the crisis in the CPF, we spend less than $300,000 annually. This is unsustainable and irresponsible if we do not address this. We owe it to our community to tell this story."

Answers to solving the city's revenue shortcomings will be explored during a new initiative undertaken this spring and summer. A five-month community engagement and research project has already started, led by experienced Colorado outreach and communications professionals.

Lead consultant Sean Walsh and his team of opinion research and communications experts will gather input and help disseminate information to residents about the city's financial difficulties, as well as gauge interest in different potential solutions. Ultimately, Walsh and his team will help inform a decision by city council whether to ask voters for permission to boost city revenue.

How citizens perceive the city's myriad financial challenges, prioritize city services, and appreciate the near-term consequences of not addressing Littleton's dire revenue challenges will be gathered via polling, social media platforms, town hall meetings (if possible), and old-fashioned one-on-one conversations with community leaders.

"Our job is to stimulate a conversation in the Littleton community that raises awareness of the city's revenue problem and solicits input from the public on how these challenges might be addressed," said Walsh. "With the team we have in place, along with the help of active citizen volunteers, we believe there's sufficient time over the next several months to have that conversation and report the results to council," he added.

During a March 2 study session during which Walsh and pollster Todd Vitale briefed council with an overview of their approach, council expressed a mixture of confidence, eagerness, and a willingness to be part of the process. "Where we are starting is at the beginning and we're not committing ourselves until we do some very professional data gathering, that's the right approach, and for me I'm very excited," said Mayor Pro Tem Scott Melin. 'I'm very encouraged to be taking a concrete step toward hopefully, and eventually, taking a very big bite out of a huge risk to our future city revenue situation."

"There are certainly some real-world and immediate consequences that will affect the quality of life we have come to expect in Littleton if we don't address these issues soon," said Mayor Jerry Valdes after hearing from the consulting team at the study session. "As concerned as I am that we have a long and hard road ahead of us with regard to our financial situation, I'm confident we have the will on council and among citizen leaders to meet these challenges head on. We've already started the work and I'm excited to see the results," he added.

Tri-County Health Department Adds Operators to Call Center

To continue to distribute the COVID-19 vaccine equitably, Tri-County Health Department's (TCHD) COVID-19 call center staff will now help people ages 60 and older, who do not have internet access or speak English, to register with COVID-19 vaccine providers. Staff will act as navigators during this process, entering basic contact information while working with the caller. Although the wait list of some providers asks for medical information during registration, call center staff will simply enter such information into the online form if needed but will not retain any personal information. The service is free, Spanish speaking staff are available, and other languages are available through a language line.

The TCHD COVID-19 call center is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday - Friday. Call 303-220-9200 for more information or for assistance with online registration. The state of Colorado's call center can also help people register and is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Call 1-877-268-2926.

South Platte Renew Celebrates Earth Day with River Clean Up

South Platte Renew (SPR) is hosting a virtual river clean up. Between April 12 and 25 volunteers can join SPR and collect debris and trash from their neighborhoods, local rivers, lakes, or parks.

This year, SPR is encouraging a do it yourself approach and is expanding its focus to include the South Platte River and any parks, lakes, or other areas in the community that need revitalizing. Choose a location and help keep it looking great. Trash bags (limit one per person) will be available for pick-up at SPR.

The goal this year is to collect 100 bags of trash or recycling over the two-week period. SPR will share clean up progress online, and participants who register will be entered to win prizes!

To get involved with the 2021 river clean up visit www.southplatterenewco.gov or call 303-762-2638 to register and learn more.

Littleton Police Seek the Public's Help in Unsolved Murder Investigation

New information has come to light in an ongoing murder investigation, and the Littleton Police Department (LPD) is seeking the public's assistance. LPD held a press conference February 17 with partners from the FBI, Metro Denver Crime Stoppers, and the 18th Judicial District.

On January 27, 2002, three people were murdered at the AMF Broadway Lanes Bowling Alley in Littleton. The crime remains unsolved. LPD is seeking the public's assistance and would like to promote community awareness and assure the victims' families that the LPD is still actively working this case. Investigators are reviewing and retesting evidence, including items from the trash can in the men's room as well as on the property. Technology not available at the time of the crime has allowed for development of new investigative leads. Advancements in fields such as genealogy and DNA analysis has led to resolution in many other cold cases.

Santa Fe Planning Study Reaches Half Way Point

Littleton is continuing to partner with many other agencies as work continues on the Santa Fe Planning and Environmental Linkages (PEL) study. The Santa Fe PEL will identify the future of the corridor between C-470 and Alameda Avenue. The PEL is about half way through and on track to be completed in November of 2021.

The project's initial outreach efforts in January and February 2020 included interviews with businesses along the corridor, interactive maps and a survey. The information gathered was incorporated into the development of alternatives.

The project team wrapped up initial options for the corridor in January 2021 by classifying the key elements to be considered. Those include roadway elements and classifications, intersection/interchanges concepts, multimodal treatments, and technology initiatives. At this time the focus is on developing and evaluating options that are location specific before moving into a further refinement to create corridor alternatives.

There will be another opportunity for community reaction to the alternatives over the summer. Visit www.codot.gov/projects/santafepel to find project and contact information.

Metro Denver Crime Stoppers is offering a $30,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone involved in this case.

There is a designated phone line and email address for anyone to share information. Call 720-913-STOP (7867) or visit the social media pages at metrodenvercrimestoppers.com.

Safety Improvements Coming for Platte Canyon Intersections

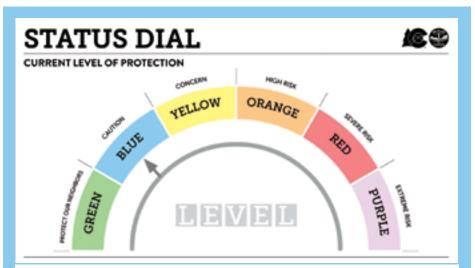

The city has obtained grant funding to address safety concerns at two intersections along Platte Canyon Road: Mineral Avenue and Bowles Avenue. The staff is undergoing a design process with a consultant team to develop concepts on how to reconstruct the intersections. Once these concepts have been developed, staff will reach out for public engagement and feedback on the concepts.

The project maps (seen at below) show where the construction will take place, and the area around the intersections that may be affected.

Arapahoe County Dial Moves to Blue

On March 14, Arapahoe County moved to Level Blue on the Colorado COVID Dial. This means that all county businesses can operate at higher capacities, and with fewer restrictions. The move will most significantly affect capacity levels at restaurants and indoor and outdoor events, including religious services. Arapahoe County is still urging everyone to continue using anti-COVID best practices, including mask wearing, hand washing, social distancing and avoiding large gatherings outside of households. Continue to stay up to date by visiting the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment's website at covid19.colorado.gov.

Geneva Lodge Renovation

For the past two decades, historic Geneva Lodge has been leased to private sector users. In December 2020, the lease terminated and the city is in the process of reinvigorating the lodge for city offices. It has been a historical fixture in the city since the 1920's having served a number of purposes but in the 1990s had fallen into disrepair. Over the past 20 years, a private company invested in the lodge but there are many significant challenges in taking over the building.

One of these is the safety of the lodge itself. There were five mature evergreen trees which were unmaintained for the better part of 40 years and were putting the lodge in significant danger. These trees, although healthy, posed a risk of collapse onto the structure. In addition, the root systems caused damage to the foundation and were risking the structural integrity of the building; similarly, the branch systems were causing deterioration to the roof. Spruce trees, although large, have shallow root systems risking collapse when they reach a certain size. Those trees have been removed.

The city takes the safety of the lodge and Geneva Park seriously. In 2020, a large spruce was removed as the tree was leaning at such an angle that the root system was failing and was likely to collapse risking park users.

On the lodge's interior the city is adding needed life safety and security requirements. On the exterior, staff is working with the Historic Preservation Board to secure grants to address work that was unmaintained while in private hands. While the goal is to preserve and protect the lodge while maintaining the critical historic look and features, it is likely that this work will not occur until 2022 if the city can secure grant funding. This work will also address handicap accessibility while preserving the true historic character of the building. For questions on the Geneva Lodge project email abrown@littletongov.org.

GET YOUR HOUSE IN SHAPE

After months of drought across Colorado, we all need to be smart about water use. Indoor self-audits are an easy way to detect and repair leaks to ensure your home is using water wisely.

Check the toilet:

Put a few drops of food coloring in the tank and wait 30 minutes to see if the color appears in the bowl. If it does, the toilet might have a leaking flapper valve. Flapper valves are easy to install and are available at most hardware stores.

Check the bathroom sink: To save water, retrofit your faucet with a low-flow aerator. They're inexpensive and easy to install.

Check the bathtub and shower: Replace old showerheads with WaterSense-labeled high-performance, high-efficiency models to save water.

Construction on Roadway Culverts on Little's Creek

Construction is underway on the roadway culvert on Little's Creek at the Gallup Street and Peakview Avenue intersection. To construct this project as economically as possible, the intersection will be closed to through traffic for approximately three months, with a detour for vehicles and pedestrians until the end of May. Through traffic will be detoured around the work area at major streets including Elati Street, Ridge Road, Windermere Street, and Caley Avenue. Access to residences near the construction site will be maintained.

The project will replace the small existing culverts with three box culverts and improve drainage pipes to reduce frequency of roadway and adjacent property flooding. All other roadways crossing Little's Creek already had culverts upgraded to address this flooding issue.

This project has been planned and designed over a number of years. It includes relocation of a number of water mains and other utilities.

For questions about the project, call 303-795-3836 or send an email to pwcr@littletongov.org.

Open Space Celebrates Partnerships

Many of Littleton's parks, trails and open spaces are funded by the voter-supported, guarter-cent Open Space Sales and Use Tax. In 2020, Arapahoe County Open Space distributed more than 62% of the tax revenues directly back to local agency partners, including Littleton, through the Shareback and Grants program. The City of Littleton received $253,564 for construction of a direct trail connection from Slaughterhouse Gulch Park to Geneva Park via new trail underpasses at the railroad and Rio Grande Street. The city also received $97,110 for planning of improvements at Reynolds Landing, and $90,000 for work at Jackass Gulch, located near the High Line Canal Trail at Mineral Avenue. The funding makes critical projects possible and contributes to a high-quality life for residents.

Prepare for Flood Season

In Littleton, the typical flood season is from mid-April to mid-September, due to spring rains or summer high-intensity thunderstorms. Flash flooding from very heavy rain can cause rapid runoff in just a few minutes. It often causes flooding in streets and low-lying areas. The numerous small streams in Littleton, such as Little's Creek, Lee Gulch, and Slaughterhouse Gulch are subject to this common type of flooding. At roadway crossings of these creeks, the road surface could flood. Never attempt to cross a flooded road, or walk or bike across a flooded trail.

One way to mitigate impacts of a flood is to have flood insurance. Premiums can vary depending on the risk at a particular property.

Littleton participates in the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), which makes flood insurance available to any property in the city limits. Flood insurance is available and recommended even if a property or house is not located within a mapped floodplain. Properties located in a FEMA floodplain with a Federally-backed mortgage are required to carry flood insurance. Littleton also participates in the Community Rating System (CRS) program which provides discounted flood insurance premiums for residents.

Information about whether a property is located in a floodplain or has other flood risk, is available from the Public Works Department/Engineering staff. Call 303-795-3865 and ask for the floodplain administrator. The following information and assistance are available:

- Potential flooding risk at a property
- FEMA floodplain and floodway maps, floodplain elevation information, and flood depths. Information can be retrieved based on an address.

Illicit Discharges and Hazardous Waste Dumping

Help keep Littleton's water clean. With a few approved exceptions, illicit dumping or flow into storm inlets, drains, pipes, culverts, ditches, creeks, etc., includes any material that isn't comprised of rainwater or snowmelt. Hazardous waste is one especially dangerous type of illicit discharge but not the only substance that is illegal to dump into the storm drainage system.

Report anything suspicious to the city's hotline at 303-734-8299 or contact the Public Works Storm Water Manager at 303-795-3836. Visit littletongov.org for more information.

"Myths and Legends" Photography Exhibit Opens at Littleton Museum

The City of Littleton Fine Arts Board is proud to present the 55th Eye of the Camera thematic fine art photography competition at the Littleton Museum. From classic allegories to modern urban tales, the narratives of myths and legends are ideal for creating artistic imagery. These stories are often passed down generationally, through written text or orally.

A legend is traditional narrative that is regarded as historical fact; heroic historical figures are often at the center of legends. Myths, on the other hand, are stories about early histories, or ones that explain a natural or social phenomenon. Supernatural beings or events figure strongly in mythologies.

This year's exhibition was juried by John Barnabas Lake, Photo Area Coordinator and Interim Foundations Coordinator at the School of Art and Design and College of Performing and Visual Arts at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley.

"My photograph-based art practice involves creating and investigating artists books, installations, photo-sculpture, and traditional photographic practices," said Lake. "My research interests include the everyday, urban visual and cultural studies, experimental geography, vernacular and archival photography, visual poetry, the intersections of social studies and photography, artistic process theory, and the psychology of art. I'm interested in the versatile and dynamic power of photography and how it can connect to multiple viewpoints, challenge and investigate ideas, and cause effective change." For more information on the work of juror John Lake, visit his website, www.johnbarnabaslake.com. For "Myths and Legends," Lake selected 42 artworks from 24 artists which will be on display through Saturday, April 24, 2021.

Feedback Gathered for Carbone Park Improvements

The City of Littleton partnered with the Mile High Flood District (MHFD) to host a virtual public meeting regarding stream stabilization along Lee Gulch in Carbone Park.

The design is in the early stages, and the design team is working to gather input from nearby residents and users of the greenway and park. In addition to correcting the ongoing erosion of the stream banks, some of which is encroaching on private property, the project will involve re-alignment of the greenway trail and a larger single-bridge crossing of Lee Gulch. For questions and updates contact croan@littletongov.org or call 303-795-3836.

- Extra temporary signage is permitted at each business
- Signage may be located anywhere on the property
- Signage shall be shorter than 4 ft. in height downtown
- A 6 ft. clearance of the sidewalk shall be maintained in Downtown Littleton
- Make sure signage is not creating a hazard to the public

The modifications will continue until the end of August. The permit fee will also be waived until the end of August. At that time the city will review the requirements for temporary signage.

Behind the Scenes at the Littleton Museum

Last summer while the museum facilities and historic buildings were closed due to the pandemic, a squirrel found its way into the historic Isaac McBroom cabin on the 1860s farm. In a panic to find its way out, the squirrel gnawed through the wooden windowpanes, damaging the windows beyond repair. Eventually, the rodent escaped, and staff noticed the damage to the two ground floor windows.

Longtime volunteer and master carpenter John Marchetti, under the supervision of Museum Facilities Technician Keith Wynkoop, undertook the project in stages, working on one section of window at a time. The original window was removed and was temporarily replaced with a large piece of acrylic. Then, the window was carefully measured and examined to see how it was originally built. The third step had John cutting and assembling new pieces of soft pine wood (either spruce or fir) in the same manner, all to match the window's historic look.

To see the McBroom cabin, visit the Littleton Museum Tuesday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The museum is closed Sundays, Mondays, and major holidays. Masks are required for entry. Call 303-795-3950 for more information.

Patio Space

McKinners and Pho Real, located in Downtown Littleton, were forced to adapt during the pandemic. Like most restaurants, McKinners and Pho Real pivoted from serving sit-down dining to providing takeaway meals and delivery. With the halting of in-person dining, McKinners Pizza Bar owner Keven Kinaschuk used Arapahoe County CARES Act funding, combined with a City of Littleton Revitalization Incentive Grant, to create a brand-new back patio for McKinners and Pho Real customers. This new space created much-needed outdoor seating.

McKinners Pizza Bar is located at 2389 West Main Street, stop by or visit www.mckinners.com for more information.
